1. Market review

For much of its history, the mankind used monetary systems based on commodity money.

The fiat money is a much later invention, it appeared about 1000 years ago, and today it is the dominant type of money. But it is not the last chapter in the monetary circulation story. Cryptocurrency is neither commodity nor fiat money, it is a new type of money.

Cryptocurrency is a name of a distributed and decentralized system of secure exchange and transfer of digital monetary units based on cryptography. Monetary units can be exchanged for fiat money within the system at market rates.

Two main innovations have appeared due to which the cryptocurrency appeared and its existence became possible in principle as a solution of two well-known problems: “the problem of double spending” and “the Byzantine generals problem”.

The "double spending" is a falsification of purchasing power or counterfeiting.

Until recently, the only way to overcome the problem of double spending was to participate in a third-party transaction — a trusted intermediary (Banks, government institutions).

The "Byzantine generals task" in cryptology means a task of the interaction of several remote subscribers who have received the orders from one and the same center. Some subscribers, including the center, can be intruders. We need to develop a unified strategy of action that will be advantageous for the subscribers.

The market capitalization of crypto-currencies is constantly growing, many digital assets have updated record highs. The market capitalization growth is only a matter of time. All this became possible because of the rapid growth of Ethereum, Bitcoin and its forks and small altcoins as well.

According to open access information, over 20 million cryptowallets are currently registered. The report released by Juniper Research says that the number of bitcoin and altcoin transactions more than doubled by 2017 — from 24.7 million dollars in 2014 to 56 million dollars.

It was the alternative coins that had a huge impact on the cryptocommunity. The number of ICO projects the world saw in 2017 is also partly responsible for the surge under way. The first major marker was surpassed in June, when cryptocurrency market capitalization exceeded 100 billion dollars. After that, the growth slowed down for a certain period. The doubling occurred only in early November, when the value of all digital assets reached 200 billion dollars. Four weeks later, the market capitalization rose to 304 billion dollars and continues to grow every minute. Then 600 + billion dollars.

It is the end of 2018 now and capitalization has dropped by 184 billion, but this happens cyclically for 10 years (growth-recession). It is the beginning of a major rebound in the industry.

2. Market problems

The market evidenced a sky-rocket growth in the beginning of 2017. As of January 1, 2017, the total value of all cryptocurrencies did not exceed 18 billion dollars. Though a cryptocurrency boom meant an increase in a large amount of capital, nobody had prepared the community for the future. In particular, nobody expected such a rapid growth. Just think, it is 1600% within 12 months only. The year 2017 became a take-off runway for Bitcoin, its forks and altcoins.

Such a rapid growth of the cryptocurrency market requires the ability to use it in the real world.

No more than 50 people of the 1000 owners of cryptocurrencies use cryptomoney, since the infrastructure for using cryptocurrencies is negligible.

The market problem is obvious

3. Solution

The solution to this problem will be the introduction and development of the SOYUZ platform with the ecosystem based on decentralized cryptography architecture of the SOYUZ coin.

6. Future

As members of a society type, we take power not from our strong individualism, but from our collective ability to plan, communicate and work together. Our neural, hormonal and genetic nature keeps interdependence above independence. The key for achieving a happy life means that a person shouldn't become autonomous and lonely, he should become the one the other people can depend on. Together we can create something genius.

We all know what to do with the usual "old" money, while cryptocurrency basically waits for its time on our accounts. Why we, going to the next level of life, still don't know how to use the opportunities it provides us ? Cryptocurrency is worthy making the life of its owners better. SOYUZ offers you to start using your cryptocurrency as effectively as you use the banknotes in your wallet.
